NARRATIVE FOR MONTH OF JANUARY, 1959

In looking over our report of one year ago, I was again reminded of our great happiness in knowing that the Board of National Missions had agreed to buy the building and that work would be begun to make more room to care for our girls and more room that we might carry out our program more efficiently. There have been many changes since then. The rooms upstairs are complete except for closet doors and even our much-longed for and much-needed apartment is about ready for us to move into—all that is lacking is the installation of the fire alarm system in the furnace room, door bells and rising gong, plus some type of intercom system.

The boys had hardly finished the painting before the girls were moving into the new rooms, and Mrs. Smith brought out the rugs, blankets, bedspreads and other items she had been hoarding for this time. One room is still given over to storage until a storage room can be built in one of the end halls.

Much interest has been shown in our comfort such as new beds for the apartment (the old ones had really seen their best days). The Deacons of First Presbyterian Church are buying drapes and the Women's Association of University Church is giving a rug for the apartment living room floor. All this is luxury after having shared our living quarters with the office for so long.

Under Miss Hornbeck's direction and assistance, the girls gave a party New Years' Eve. If we were to judge by the noise and laughter, the party was a success. For refreshments they made beef burgers with everyone making his own—rather messy, but a lot of fun. Many other activities took place during the month. A trip to the News-Miner where Miss Hornbeck works, attendance at the dedication of the new YMCA Swimming Pool, attendance at basketball games—especially when Sheldon Jackson Warriors played, as well as classes in Child Care held at the local Health Center.

Now that the girls are sleeping upstairs, the room next to the living room can be used for Miss Hornbeck's projects. It is a nice size for meetings such as the Homemakers which is held every other Thursday and for any other classes or groups she plans to have. The first meeting held in this room was that of the program committee which met with Miss Miller while she was here.

The girls, under Mrs. Smith's direction, made and served a ham dinner to the Warriors from Sheldon Jackson. These occasional dinners are of much value to our girls giving them opportunity to learn to serve and entertain. Some are becoming quite proficient and are gaining much needed confidence.

Miss Miller arrived on the 18th and spent nine busy days with us—days packed with conferences, giving us some advice and helping to solve some problems that were troubling us. During this past year we have worked very hard in attempting to make Hospitality House the very best in every way. When I say "we", I mean not only the staff, but also our Board of Management, the many volunteers who have given of their time and talents and those who have encouraged and prayed for the work. We have had visitors from every agency in the state as well as from many different denominations and have been gratified at their reactions and appreciation of what we are doing. However, we have felt the need of someone to help us to evaluate our work and to point out weak spots in our program or management, so Miss Miller's visit was most timely coming at the beginning of another year. As she spent much of her time here she saw us at our worst and at our best, talked with the girls and with members of the staff so that we felt she had a good understanding of all phases of the work. Even the furnace blew up, spewing soot and dust over everything on her second day with us, but she just got busy and helped clean up the mess. Her visit was not only profitable but enjoyable to all of us.

In general the work has gone very smoothly this past month. We have had a few new girls and some have left us. There was only one case of serious illness and that was an emergency appendectomy for Christine. She recovered very quickly and within a week was back again. However, she has now gone to the states to be married and to make her home. Another of our girls was in the hospital for observation and it was decided that all she needs is TLC and lots of patience, her condition being due to an unhappy background.

Our difficulty with our furnace is, I believe, taken care of. Reverend Stokes suggested a new furnace man and got in touch with Mr. Baird who surely did a better job. Everything is working well now but it is Mr. Baird's opinion that a larger chimney is in order to accommodate both the water heater and the furnace.

We are still having many calls to help in one way or another among our families who are out of work or have illness. We refer them, if possible, to the agencies who can help them and to their ministers when possible and in our own contact try to lead them to the Lord. So many problems are solved once they see their real need.

We have seven girls attending school, another who is an expectant mother will be with us for another few weeks and the rest are here in training for jobs. We are especially pleased that some of our girls who have come to us for other reasons want to go to school. Interest in spiritual things continues strong and a number of the girls are meeting each evening for a short period of reading and prayer before bedtime with Marilyn as their leader.

Our greatest need at present is for money to finish the work upstairs plus more to renovate the basement. A new stove is also in order inasmuch as the present one is inadequate having been the one left in the building when the purchase of the property was made. It is a family size with not enough oven space or top surface for the amount of cooking being done. Nevertheless, we are thankful for the way in which we have been supplied and our immediate needs cared for.

NARRATIVE FOR MONTH OF FEBRUARY 1959

February being the shortest month of the year, I suppose this should be the shortest report. No doubt it will be, but not because our days have not been filled to capacity. We often say "we will do this, or that, next week", but that quiet 'next week' never does put in an appearance. However, we are thankful to be busy in this work and to be given strength for each day.

As is usual for February, there were many colds but no serious illnesses, for which we are thankful. In spite of cold weather, activities were not curtailed.

Work on the 'House' continues. The girl's bathroom upstairs is finished, except for painting. How wonderful it is to have three basins, two showers, and even a bath tub, after using one basin and one shower for fourteen girls or more. No need to line up now! Our girls find it much easier to keep their rooms in order, and the general appearance of the house is much improved. However, we still need storage rooms desperately and cannot do the job of housekeeping properly until such time as we can have places to put supplies. The basement is also in need of a coat of paint everywhere and we feel we must get that done before our dedication which has been set for April 12th.

Some of our girls are painting furniture and it does help to make everything look clean and fresh. The girls we have at present are much interested in doing such work. One Saturday they painted kitchen chairs and last Saturday painted dining room chairs and the piano. Although Harry and I take Saturday for our day off, we spend most of it in the apartment and it is most pleasant to hear the girls as they work downstairs, singing and laughing and enjoying themselves while they work. Such Harmony! It is an equal pleasure to walk through the downstairs later in the day and see everything clean and shining and all ready for Sunday.

We have at last, received surplus flour, and Mrs. Smith has been teaching the girls to bake bread. They are doing very well at it and yesterday Esther tried her hand at making rolls. She was most successful. Marlene, who plans on marriage, made her first batch of bread with Mrs. Smith's help. Today she made one by herself and it is very good.

Some of our girls like to make use of special occasions to show what they can do. Although no plans were actually made for a valentine party, other than decorating the living room, one girl decided to make heart-shaped cakes and to decorate them; then, our dessert for that night was heart-shaped jello. As it was 'boys' night, they planned games and had a very good time, using our dessert for party fare!

Another event of some importance was the marriage of one of our former girls. Knowing Mrs. Smith can decorate a lovely wedding cake, she asked if she could have her reception here and have Mrs. Smith make the cake and offered to pay expenses. Rev. Dierking married them at the First Church and the reception was held here as planned.

Under program with Miss Hornbeck, the Child Care classes continue on each Thursday night with Mrs. Carey as instructor. The girls find them very interesting as well as instructive. The Homemakers meet every other Thursday with Miss Ida Mae Merrill as their leader. They have been doing such things as copper enameling, making mukluks for their tiny tots, and last meeting when I stepped in to visit, they were all busy with knitting needles and crochet hooks.

Meetings for girls of Junior High age will begin in March. A leader has not been chosen as yet for this group. We find girls of this age getting into difficulties more and more often and are anxious that we get them coming to Hospitality House for their friendship and fellowship before they find interests less wholesome, elsewhere. Later a class for still younger girls will be started.

Miss Hornbeck took some of the girls to see the dog races. We were surprised to learn that they had never seen a dog race, although it is not to be wondered at as they had spent most of their life in Southeastern Alaska.

This month the Board of Management met at the Hospitality House, where they were guests at dinner prepared and served by the girls under Mrs. Smith's direction. Arrangements were such that Board members and girls, were seated alternately in order that our Board members may become better acquainted with our girls. We plan to do this at least once each quarter, if possible.

We have had several visitors again, especially people who come in from the villages such as nurses or village officials who are interested in Hospitality House. We especially enjoyed a visit from Dr. Clifford Earle. The girls were enthralled by his magic tricks and almost failed to get to their Child Care class on time. He came back the next day and took pictures and when he left the girls asked him to come for a visit again.

We enjoy visitors and are looking forward to those who will come to visit with Dr. Jackman in April. I hope by then that our House will be in order in every way, and that those who come will see the work in action, and will be encouraged to continue the fine support we have had during the past two years. Without it, we would be unable to continue.

The Homemakers meet every other Thursday with Miss Ida Mae Merrill as their leader. They have been doing such things as copper enameling, making mukluks for their tiny tots, and last meeting when I stepped in to visit, they were all busy with knitting needles and crochet hooks.

Meetings for girls of Junior High age will begin in March. A leader has not been chosen as yet for this group. We find girls of this age getting into difficulties more and more often and are anxious that we get them coming to Hospitality House for their friendship and fellowship before they find interests less wholesome, elsewhere. Later a class for still younger girls will be started.

Miss Hornbeck took some of the girls to see the dog races. We were surprised to learn that they had never seen a dog race, although it is not to be wondered at as they had spent most of their life in Southeastern Alaska.

This month the Board of Management met at the Hospitality House, where they were guests at dinner prepared and served by the girls under Mrs. Smith's direction. Arrangements were such that Board members and girls, were seated alternately in order that our Board members may become better acquainted with our girls. We plan to do this at least once each quarter, if possible.

We have had several visitors again, especially people who come in from the villages such as nurses or village officials who are interested in Hospitality House. We especially enjoyed a visit from Dr. Clifford Earle. The girls were enthralled by his magic tricks and almost failed to get to their Child Care class on time. He came back the next day and took pictures and when he left the girls asked him to come for a visit again.

We enjoy visitors and are looking forward to those who will come to visit with Dr. Jackman in April. I hope by then that our House will be in order in every way, and that those who come will see the work in action, and will be encouraged to continue the fine support we have had during the past two years. Without it, we would be unable to continue.

NARRATIVE FOR MONTH OF MARCH 1952

The 15th of March marks the second anniversary of Hospitality House. What a great change has come about in that time, and how much has been accomplished, both in the building and in the changing of lives. Many have been helped to find a better way of life and many others have been saved the grief and unhappiness of those who formerly had no place to go for help. There is still much to be done, and will be for many years to come, so we can by no means 'rest upon our laurels' but must continue doing what we can where-ever there is a need.

With the first breath of spring air, everyone begins to think in terms of summer activities. Most of our girls, of course are thinking of swimming, outdoor games and picnics but some are also planning on making gardens and Mr. Turner will be called on for help in this project. Others plan on working in town when school is out or going back to the village where they can help their families by fishing or working in canneries to earn money for the coming school year. However, just at present we are in the throes of housecleaning and painting in preparation for our Open House and Dedication to be held in April when Dr. Jackman and others will be with us.

Although we have had some volunteer help most of the work has been done by our girls who have taken much pride in getting their 'home' in shape for visitors. Because of limited time, we will be unable to paint the kitchen before Open House but aside from that and our lack of enough storage space, we feel ourselves quite well equipped.

Under Miss Hornbeck's direction a new group will be formed which will include girls age thirteen to fifteen. They will meet at Hospitality House with Mrs. Taimi Lahti as their leader. Our usual Boys' Nights and Homemakers' Club meetings have been held during the month and Miss Hornbeck accompanied those of our girls who wished to attend to the style show, dog races or other activities of the winter carnival.

On Easter Sunday, the girls, with Mrs. Smith's help made the dinner. Guests were invited and there were thirty of us seated at dinner. We were especially happy to have enough mel-mac dishes and stainless steel table ware to set a very pretty table. One of our girls had been given an Easter lily and that was used as our decorations.

We have had a few interesting cases this month. Ida Rulland, a young girl from Anaktuvik Pass was brought in as an emergency with very sore eyes. When seen by the doctor, it was felt that not much could be done and that her eyesight was badly impaired. However, when we heard regular medication might help we suggested that she stay on with us until something definite could be decided. This was agreeable to the Health Department (ANHS) and now the doctor says there is a very good chance of her eyesight being saved. We are all very happy about it.

A young mother brought her year-old child in from Arctic Village for emergency care. The child had pneumonia and was very ill. Before the plane landed the child's breathing had stopped but an ambulance was standing by waiting for a Barrow patient and the child and mother were placed in it and oxygen used to try to revive the infant. On the way to the hospital the hood became loose on the ambulance and flew back breaking the windshield and causing them to stop. A police car took the mother and child on to the hospital but the child was pronounced dead on arrival and the mother was referred to us for over-night care. I can well imagine the feelings she must have had as a result of her experiences; and yet, although the tears did flow, she accepted everything as perfectly natural. I'm sure she went back to her village feeling that this was a most unpredictable place, and perhaps preferring the hardships encountered in her Indian village.

We have taken back one of our girls who failed in another situation. Perhaps we were wrong in feeling that she would do well living with a family or we may have thought she was stronger than she was. One of the problems we are meeting is that of adjusting to family life after years of boarding schools or children's homes, regardless of the good care they may receive. They become used to group living and are often lonely when away from the group. We find that with our girls who plan to get live-in jobs do much better if allowed to come back for one or two days a week until they are used to their new place of residence.

These have been good days and there is much harmony in our large family. We are thankful for it. Our girls are more attentive to serious things and for the most part seem to want to do what is right. Of course when new girls come and when some of our older, more stable girls leave, we will again have the same problems and difficulties to face, but God gives us grace to meet what comes. It is our prayer that we be found faithful whether the task be great or small.

Dear Dr. Jackman:

This is just to ask if you are sure to be here for the 12th of April as planned when you were here in July. I remember that you wrote it in your little book. I have been so sure of it myself that until this morning when John asked if I was sure you would be here that day, I had no doubts. Perhaps I had better make sure.

Our Board has already been working on plans for that day - plans concerning the program for dedication and refreshments. Of course getting the house in order and the painting done, etc. is our worry but I'm sure it will be ready. No matter when a day is set there is always a certain amount of last minute preparations and confusion. Now, I did it! Imagine admitting to confusion.

We are using the apartment, except of course for cooking. We do have our meals up there on our day off and Harry enjoys some free time up there but until the kitchen unit is in we are using our old electric over. It works very well and as long as we have an electric coffee maker, we are all set.

Miss Miller spent about ten days with us and I think she was quite satisfied with most everything. Of course, until we get storage rooms we will not be able to have as good a looking house as we'd like but then, we can't have everything at once. Isn't it surprizing how quickly we forget that we were thankful to have any kind of a building just so we could get started? It's amazing how the work has grown, tho' and I suppose the fact that our needs have grown along with the work to be done, does make us impatient at times.

Dr. John Park Lee has written saying he could come for dinner on the one night he is here. I wrote him fearing that he would get away without our seeing him. You had better condition him before he leaves so that he won't be too disappointed. However, by that time I think we will have the whole upstairs and some of the downstairs all painted. Some of the boys are coming tomorrow to finish the bathroom painting. The part that thrills me the most is the sickroom. It's always in use and such a help to keep colds etc. from spreading. Two of our girls had 'pink-eye' and it stopped with them.

Goodbye for now. Please answer as soon as possible regarding the 12th of April so I won't have to go in hiding.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Harry Rasmussen

Fairbanks, Alaska

Dear Ma'am:

Thank you for your letter of March 17th inquiring about the date of my presence in Fairbanks. I think we did talk about the 12th of April, but I discovered upon my return, that some conditions have occurred that have upset this planning. The change of the dates of the meetings of the two Presbyteries and the presence in Alaska with me of some official visitors, make it necessary for me to rearrange the schedule.

I expect to arrive in Fairbanks on the evening of April 5th by Alaska Airlines, with Mr. James Lettich, who is the head of our Building and Church Extension Department. He will be in Fairbanks all day on the seventh, and will leave the morning of the 8th for Juneau and the Alaska Presbytery. On the morning of April 11th, I shall leave Anchorage with Mr. L. A. Tolman and the Rev. Phillip McEhorn, who is the Stated Clerk of the Synod of Washington, for Juneau and Anchorage in the afternoon. He had planned to be in Anchorage on April 12th and the week following to attend the meetings of Yukon Presbytery. Following the meeting of Presbytery, I shall leave Anchorage the morning of the 18th to fly through Fresno, California to speak there the morning of the 19th. Because of the expense involved, I had not planned to come on to Fairbanks again on the 12th or that following week.

Since you are planning a dedication service for Hospitality House, could that be done on the evening of the 7th, which is Tuesday? If it seems best to you and the Board of the House, I can come up on Saturday evening, the 11th and be in Fairbanks for the 12th, but had not planned to spend this extra money from Anchorage to Fairbanks again. Suppose you and John Stokes consider this, and I will accept your recommendation whether it be on Tuesday evening the 7th, or whether it be on Saturday the 12th.

Mr. John Park Lee is our Staff Consultant on the operation of Presbyterian Homes, Community Centers and Welfare Houses. He is the Executive Secretary of the Presbyterian Health and Welfare Association, and the one to whom we look for guidance in program and buildings in this part of our missionary service. He is visiting Hospitality House and Nailes House, particularly in order to understand something of their program, and be available for advice and counsel for the future. He is coming to Fairbanks specifically to visit you, so we hope it will be possible for him to come for dinner with the whole staff and girls in order for him to understand our work there. I think it would be well for him to meet with the Hospitality House Board during his visit. You must understand that this is not an "official inspection", but rather to understand what we are doing with a freedom to make suggestions which we hope will be helpful in the program. He would suggest that you tell him all about what you are doing, and then ask if he has any suggestions which can be made to you and to the Board and the local Board.

I am wondering if there is any need for me to have a meeting with the Hospitality Board while I am there. We do not want them to feel that they must come together for an official meeting for everyone who comes along, but since the appropriation and board contact is through our office, I do want to keep in touch with the Board and what we are all trying to do together.

We are glad to get the report that the renovations have been completed so far that you and Harry will have your apartment alone. We do appreciate the fine service which you are both giving. Best regards, and blessings upon you in your wonderful work. I shall be looking forward to another visit with you in April.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Dr. Jackman:

Thank you for your prompt reply. I should have written earlier to confirm the date for dedication but Tuesday, April the 7th will be fine. I talked with John Stokes about it and he felt it would be alright with the Board members. Will you and Dr. Leitch be able to have dinner with us too, that evening? Perhaps the 6th would be better unless you will be coming in too late. That can wait until we know just what time you will arrive. Plane times change according to the weather up here so we will wait and arrange that later.

I am glad Dr. Lee is going to be able to have dinner with us. There was a suggestion that we also have one or two others in at the same time but I feel it is better that he be able to visit with the girls. They are at their best when there is only one or two visitors. They become shy with too many. However, our Board will come over at eight o'clock to meet and talk with Dr. Lee.

I wish you could see how hard our girls are working to get our house in order. They are painting, calking logs and varnishing. There is much to be done but we will not get everything ready. However, if we don't have some needs to show people they will feel we no longer need as much help when just the opposite is true. What a long way we have come in two years! When I remember how we prayed for something much less than this and the way was closed and then this building was made available, and how hard it was to believe God had a better way, I am ashamed. What a marvelous thing it is that God's will and work is not limited by our lack of faith. I guess it is a case of "Lord, I believe, help Thou mine unbelief."

We are all looking forward to seeing you again and will pray that nothing will hinder nor cause your whole trip to be anything but the very best.

Sincerely,

Noble

NARRATIVE FOR MONTH OF APRIL 1959

Now that all the excitement is over, and as much housecleaning and painting done as we could manage before the date set for our Open House and Dedication, we can sit back a bit before getting back into our old routine, and talk over the happenings of the past month. Although everyone worked very hard to get everything in readiness, we still had a few mishaps in our efforts to make the unlovely, lovely and in a few spots, to camouflage where we could not improve. We were satisfied in that we had done our very best and it had to be left at that.

The women from the College Community Church and from First Church took over all responsibility for the tea and cookies. Our girls met guests at the door conducting them through the house and seeing that they were entertained. In all, we had about one hundred visitors.

Our dedication service would not have been right without Dr. Jackman so we arranged to have it on the 7th because it was possible for him to be here then. Rev. Joe Heckel opened the service with prayer after which Rev. John Stokes introduced the speakers, our advisory board and staff members. Dr. Leich read Matthew 25:31-46 and Dr. Jackman, after a short but inspiring message gave the prayer of dedication. Some of our girls sang a hymn and Rev. Dierking gave the benediction.

We have had many visitors this month--Dr. Leich who came with Dr. Jackman and was able to be with us for the dedication; Mr. Lee from the New York office who was visiting Presbyterian Homes and Institutions in Alaska; Dr. Polhemus and Rev. Walborn from the Washington Synod and Miss Rachel Benfer of San Francisco, California and others who were interested in what we are doing 'way up north.' We did our best to acquaint each of them with our work and our needs and although we enjoyed all of them, having Miss Benfer with us for a few days was like a good tonic. Because of her own early experiences in mission work, we felt we were talking with a 'kindred spirit'--with one who made every effort to understand what some of our problems with our girls were.

We were fortunate this month to have had the Alaska Native Service Dentist in town and he very kindly took as many of our girls as possible before any others. In turn, we were able to help locate several young people with whom he wanted to get in touch. We hope he will be able to come again soon as there is always someone in need of dental care.

Of great interest and inspiration to me was the meeting of Presbyterial in Anchorage. This was my first such experience and I felt it was very worth while to me. While in Anchorage I was able to do some hospital visiting of those folk who have had some contact with us either in church or through our work here. It was good to see so many folk on the mend.

I spent some time with Alice Green and with Miss Usenius, the social worker for the ANHS hospital and was invited to sit in with them on a rehabilitation conference. I also visited other agencies and talked with those with whom we often have correspondence. It helps very much to have met the person with whom you correspond.

Under Program we have been going along doing the same things such as 'boy nights' and Homemakers' Club. At one of the Homemakers' Club meetings a cancer film was shown with Dr. Storrs attending and explaining or answering any questions. I'm sure that every one of the girls just knew she had cancer that night, but it did not hinder their smoking just as much as ever the next day, although he spoke in particular about the danger of cancer of the lung.

A birthday party in the form of a weiner roast was held in the back yard. Three of the girls had had birthdays during the month and each had a cake decorated with her name. They made potato salad and had all the extras. How they love to eat! We are hoping someone with some talent for making an outdoor fireplace will come along to help us put up a nice one. Of course we can make one very simply but would like something that dresses up the yard a bit.

I received a call one night from a girl who had formerly stayed here. She is not a very stable person but she was much concerned about a fourteen-year-old girl who had been brought out to her house, fed liquor and left there. She was unharmed otherwise but I called on Mr. Urban to go out to get her. He and the State Police went out but met the little girl walking on her way into town. She was rather a mess. Dirty clothing which was not suitable for her in the first place, miserable with a cold and her eyes so sore she could hardly keep them open. Of course a bath was in order and then I began doing what I could with her eyes. They cleared up very well after a few days of care but she was very ill with a high temperature and what seemed like pneumonia to me. However, we phoned the doctor and he gave some instructions and sent medicine and she is fine again now. We are hoping she can be accepted at Haines House. Her trouble is as usual a poor home situation and perhaps too much responsibility on her too young shoulders.

Another girl, living in Nome, has been referred to us as a girl very much in need. She is seventeen-years-old with I believe, no parents. Like so many others, she will be getting into trouble if not taken out of that situation. However, as I have so often noticed, the young person trying to help himself gets no help whereas the one who commits a crime or breaks the law, bringing his situation to the attention of others, gets the best care. We have written to Nome to request information from Miss Elsie Mae Smith who is now working there for BIA.

There is still much to be done and I believe always will be in every way. There is much that has not been finished that will take time and some volunteer help but we feel we have really gone a long way. Now that our building is officially dedicated, it should be as Dr. Jackman says, "We need to continue doing more than we ever have before." With the Lord's help, we shall continue.

NARRATIVE FOR MONTH OF APRIL 1959

Now that all the excitement is over, and as much housecleaning and painting done as we could manage before the date set for our Open House and Dedication, we can sit back a bit before getting back into our old routine, and talk over the happenings of the past month. Although everyone worked very hard to get everything in readiness, we still had a few mishaps in our efforts to make the unlovely, lovely and in a few spots, to camouflage where we could not improve. We were satisfied in that we had done our very best and it had to be left at that.

The women from the College Community Church and from First Church took over all responsibility for the tea and cookies. Our girls met guests at the door conducting them through the house and seeing that they were entertained. In all, we had about one hundred visitors.

Our dedication service would not have been right without Dr. Jackman so we arranged to have it on the 7th because it was possible for him to be here then. Rev. Joe Heckel opened the service with prayer after which Rev. John Stokes introduced the speakers, our advisory board and staff members. Dr. Leich read Matthew 25:31-46 and Dr. Jackman, after a short but inspiring message gave the prayer of dedication. Some of our girls sang a hymn and Rev. Dierking gave the benediction.

We have had many visitors this month--Dr. Leich who came with Dr. Jackman and was able to be with us for the dedication; Mr. Lee from the New York office who was visiting Presbyterian Homes and Institutions in Alaska; Dr. Polhemus and Rev. Walborn from the Washington Synod and Miss Rachel Benfer of San Francisco, California and others who were interested in what we are doing 'way up north.' We did our best to acquaint each of them with our work and our needs and although we enjoyed all of them, having Miss Benfer with us for a few days was like a good tonic. Because of her own early experiences in mission work, we felt we were talking with a 'kindred spirit'--with one who made every effort to understand what some of our problems with our girls were.

We were fortunate this month to have had the Alaska Native Service Dentist in town and he very kindly took as many of our girls as possible before any others. In turn, we were able to help locate several young people with whom he wanted to get in touch. We hope he will be able to come again soon as there is always someone in need of dental care.

Of great interest and inspiration to me was the meeting of Presbyterial in Anchorage. This was my first such experience and I felt it was very worth while to me. While in Anchorage I was able to do some hospital visiting of those folk who have had some contact with us either in church or through our work here. It was good to see so many folk on the mend.

I spent some time with Alice Green and with Miss Usenius, the social worker for the ANHS hospital and was invited to sit in with them on a rehabilitation conference. I also visited other agencies and talked with those with whom we often have correspondence. It helps very much to have met the person with whom you correspond.

Under Program we have been going along doing the same things such as 'boy nights' and Homemakers' Club. At one of the Homemakers' Club meetings a cancer film was shown with Dr. Storrs attending and explaining or answering any questions. I'm sure that every one of the girls just knew she had cancer that night, but it did not hinder their smoking just as much as ever the next day, although he spoke in particular about the danger of cancer of the lung.

A birthday party in the form of a weiner roast was held in the back yard. Three of the girls had had birthdays during the month and each had a cake decorated with her name. They made potato salad and had all the extras. How they love to eat! We are hoping someone with some talent for making an outdoor fireplace will come along to help us put up a nice one. The Rev. John C. Stokes
College, Alaska

Dear John:

At the meeting of the Presbytery I had with me the personnel papers for Mrs. Marian Mann, whom we were considering as a summer worker for Hospitality House. Brian Cleworth and Mrs. Rasmussen reviewed her papers, and both felt that she would be acceptable and a asset for the program during the summer. Mrs. Mann has been informed of this possibility. She has just called me by telephone to indicate that her plans have changed, and she will be available only for six weeks. This would mean from the middle of June through the month of July. We would ask you to clear with Mrs. Rasmussen to see whether this would be acceptable, or whether we should try to find someone else who would be there for the full 2½ or 3 months. Mrs. Mann will be responsible for her own transportation, so that we would simply pay her $200.00 plus room and board at Hospitality House.

Mrs. Mann has a son, Brook, who is 18½ years old and graduating from high school early in June. He would like to come with his mother and be a part of our church program somewhere. Mrs. Mann states that he has had experience in Vacation Bible School, and would like to be used in that program, although he is willing to do anything. He would be with his mother only for the six weeks period, and feels that it is not worth while trying to get secular employment during that short period. Could you use him in your own Bible School and/or a school at Six Mile? If this is not possible, it seems certain that Neil could use him for program or physical work in connection with Big Delta. Mrs. Mann describes Brook as a husky young man who is willing to work and is accustomed to being a part of the religious program. She will come to see me on the 14th of May here at the office, and I would like to have clearance on this prior to that time so that we can give her a definite answer. If there is a place for both of them, we will clear details on the 14th. If the amount of time they have available does not seem worth the trip, then we should tell her before she comes over here for the interview.

You should know that Shirley Angle, the ECR at the First Church in Sioux Falls, South Dakota, wants to come up for a month or 6 weeks, and we have made a contact for her with Joe Heckel who would use her in Vacation Bible Schools along the railroad. Regards to the family.

Dear Dr. Jackman:

Sorry I didn't get to talk with you before you left for Fresno, but, I did not know you were leaving Saturday morning. I left hurriedly, myself, after the banquet, as friends were waiting for me. The next time I attend any such meetings I will stay at a hotel. I dislike causing others any inconvenience and not being able to do as I please. I enjoy my friends and their kindness but would rather be on my own.

I gave Mrs. Mann's application forms to Brian and he will return them to you. I was very well impressed with her qualifications and feel she would be able to work very well with us here. I hope she will be able to come as I feel we could perhaps get our program under way and perhaps get volunteer helpers for part of it. Another thought is, that she should have some financial help too and if she did work out well, we would surely not need Margaret at least for the summer, thus releasing what is paid Margaret for other personnel. I have not talked this over with anyone else and unless I hear from either you or Brian to the contrary, shall not mention it. Marylin will no doubt have a job for the summer which will be good for her. She will perhaps earn enough for her next school year and also get away from the work here for a while and come back in the fall refreshed.

Miss Benfer has been a joy to have around. Today she is with the women at College church for a Tea. Neal Monroe came for her yesterday and she spent the night with them. On top of it all, she caught a cold and has not been feeling too well. I am not sure which has made her feel worse; the cold, or all the suggestions from everyone on how to conquer it. Our girls love her but they are getting to enjoy anyone who comes to visit from other places. On Sunday afternoon the Lahti's took Rev. Walborn, Dr. Polhemus and Rachel for a ride and to the museum so they did get around a bit. Harry took Rachel for a drive around town the night she came so she could see what Fairbanks was like. Dr. Polhemus talked with us about getting some assistance from the Synod. He was much interested in our work and felt that a small grant of so much a month would be of help to us, Sounds good doesn't it?

It is good to get back to work after my week away. Everything was just fine when I returned except that Harry had hurt his big toe so had an excuse to stay home a few days. He says he enjoyed playing lazy.

Thank you so much for everything. It was good to see you again, and to talk with you.

Dear Mrs. Mann:

Your papers have been referred to us by our Summer Service Office for consideration for service in Alaska. I took them with me and consulted two or three people up there about where you might be used. Because of your age and maturity, we felt that the best possible place would be in our Hospitality House in Fairbanks, where we have a home for teen-age girls, mostly Indians, who need guidance in the transition from housekeeping on the far the coast in a primitive home, to our own modern homes, training in the various kinds of jobs which may be open to them, plus moral and spiritual guidance to keep them out of trouble, and try to lead them to the Christian way of life. Many of them have been physical exploited by some kinds of white people in the area. We began this work to help those who were already in difficulty and to protect a way of life for them which would keep them out of trouble for the future. We have housing arrangements for 18 girls plus Mrs. Nabel Aszumusuk, who conceived this house, and is now the head of it. She and her husband have an apartment in the building. We have Mrs. Smith who is the house keeper, and a part-time group worker who sees up the staff. Gillian Latta has been living there with service for board and room while she is attending the University of Alaska. During the summer she will need extra help to take care of the time for vacations. Within a short period of two years, this house has been recognized by all social and governmental agencies as a source of great ministry to these girls.

In our summer service program, we have been very willing to use many people to supplement the regular personnel for a regular or additional services. We have not had the money in our budget to provide for the cost of transportation plus any remuneration. Therefore, we have had to ask our summer workers to come to us with transportation provided, and we would supply a small token remuneration. Those coming to us on the college level are to receive $10.00 a month for two months service in the summer, and those on the seminary level, will come to us as single persons are to receive $250.00 plus housing. If you were to serve two or three months at Hospitality House, you would have housing and meals there, although probably, not a private room, plus about $200.00 a month. We recognize that this remuneration is not up to standard employment arrangements, but is for summer service.

There would not be any place for Brooks there, and if he went with you, he would have to make other arrangements. If he were on the seminary level, or if we knew more about him, we might have some suggestion, because we could use a seminary student for a three months period doing work in an area of scattered population six miles east of Fairbanks, under the supervision of the Rev. John Stokes, who is our minister at College. There will be considerable secular employment in the area during the coming summer, and he would have a good possibility of getting another job while you are there.

Give me your reaction on both of these things as soon as possible, and I shall try to follow it up with you. Your papers indicate that you would not be able to leave home until June 12th. There could be a place for you as early as June 1st. If you flew, you could get there by the middle of June on the basis of your date of June 12, but if you drove after that, it would take 10 days from this area, which would cut your time of service on the field. Perhaps, much more information about all of these things involved would help us to come to a final decision.

Sincerely yours,

NARRATIVE FOR MONTH OF MAY, 1959

Our very busy month of May, with its trek of students returning to their villages is just over. It was a very busy time as about the third day Mrs. Smith became ill and had to go to bed for a few days. Marilyn was on her way to Haines, and although she wanted to stay, I felt it was best for her to leave at this time for a bit of rest and recreation before coming back to work full time. Miss Hornbeck came in for several extra hours and due to Mrs. Smith's good planning for the extra work and the cooperation of some of our girls, we got along very well. We were tired when the week was over, to be sure, but as there were no discipline problems to speak of among the students and no one taking off, there was very little confusion. Getting them up and off at most early morning hours was a bit hectic but we felt a satisfaction in having helped once more to see that these young people got back to their homes without getting into town and involved in trouble. Then too, we will benefit financially in that our statement to BIA is for $344 for feeding and boarding care. It will help.

{ Mr. Turner has been over to help get the gardening started. Some of the girls were quite enthusiastic about making gardens of their own. I only hope they will continue to feel the same once the gardens begin to grow. However, once the garden is up and weeding needed to be done, this will be put on the work chart as a regular part of the working day. We have purchased a few yards of top soil to make a flower garden in the front of the house, but much more is needed.

There has been much illness during the month, especially severe cases of flu. One girl who had been working came for the weekend and had a very bad chest cold so we put her in the isolation room (what a blessing that room is) and contacted the doctor who thought it might be a recurrence of the flu and said to bring her in to the hospital. Within a few days it was found that she had tuberculosis, and she is now in the ANHS hospital in Anchorage.

Our dear little Eskimo grandmother, Shakarella, known to BIA as Susie Schultze passed away on the eleventh. She had been a faithful attender at the Homemakers' meetings for the past several months although she was much older than the others. She had been making her home with Roland and Lily and while there she learned to know Jesus as her personal Saviour. You will remember that Roland was the young man who learned to know the Lord when his tiny son died, although Lily has been a Christian of many years, and a very faithful one. They were sad at losing her but not as they would have been had it happened a year ago.

The Homemakers' Club concluded its work for the year with a very nice picnic which was held at the Crabb home. They will begin their meetings again in September. We are hoping to do much more in the line of program during the summer and are looking for someone to help with Boys' Nights. We will need a couple who has enthusiasm and a liking for young people.

The feeling of unrest, resentment and in one instance of open defiance has finally reached its climax and boiled over. I am thankful for that. Perhaps as some say, much of the naughtiness going on around town may be due in part to spring spirits but I am rather of the opinion that it goes a bit deeper. Since two of our girls were not allowed to come back after having walked off and three of them spent some time in detention, we have had a much better spirit all through the house. Then too, with the close of school others have gone out on live-in jobs and we have had quite a turn over in residents.

We have been able to give some assistance to a mother who is trying very hard to make a come back to normal living and to eventually having her children, or at least a part of them, back with her sometime in the future. Over a period of many years she has been living as so many do--more often intoxicated than not, and of course indulging in the kind of life that goes with it. She became quite ill and was hospitalized for some weeks so that it gave us a chance to talk with her and to encourage her. When she left the hospital she came to us and began to make new friends and to get rid of some of the old ones. It was quite a battle, especially as they would call her on the phone and when we either refused to call her or to deliver messages, become quite belligerent. I was told many things about myself that I never knew by one persistent man whose language fitted the kind of life he lived. I was told in the most picturesque terms what he thought of me and everyone connected with me, my past and my future and just where I was going. I finally told him the number of the police station. He must have called them as I have heard nothing more from him. In the meantime this mother has found herself a job where she is caring for four children, two of them retarded. I am amazed that she has had the will to stick it out as it is one of the hardest places I know of to work.

Our little fourteen-year-old has finally been placed in a children's home on the outskirts of town with the hope that she may adjust there. I doubt that she will, but it will be well if she does. She and her parents were both willing that she go to Haines House if the room was available but she is finally in the custody of DPP so someone is responsible for her.

Much has been accomplished around the house due to the efforts of Mrs. Smith's son who comes in on Saturdays or evenings to help. He put up the partition between the office and the space we used to use for our sleeping room. Dave Crow came over to put up shelves and it is now a very good storage room. George has also helped to put up other shelves in the clothes closet here in the office and we now use it to store our linens, quilts and blankets. Our girls have been painting furniture. There is much more to be done but we have the summer before us.

We are in need of having some sort of window stoppers on our back windows. One night some native boys decided they would try to get in and, having made a bet that he could do so, one boy did climb in the sick room window, talked with a girl who was in there at the time and climbed out again. The police were called but aside from tracks beneath the window, there was nothing to go on to identify them. However, I am sure that we will eventually know who they are via the grapevine. I have called Joe Keaney about it and also contacted one lumber company but that is about all that has been done about it so far.

Our new door bells and fire alarm system are in which makes for more rest for us. It is no longer necessary for one of us to sleep downstairs unless we have extras with us.

I have been informed that Marilyn Latta can be employed full time for the summer months and we are looking forward to a very busy summer with a much better organized program for work and play.

NARRATIVE FOR MONTH OF MAY, 1959

Our very busy month of May, with its trek of students returning to their villages is just over. It was a very busy time as about the third day Mrs. Smith became ill and had to go to bed for a few days. Marilyn was on her way to Haines, and although she wanted to stay, I felt it was best for her to leave at this time for a bit of rest and recreation before coming back to work full time. Miss Hornbeck came in for several extra hours and due to Mrs. Smith's good planning for the extra work and the cooperation of some of our girls, we got along very well. We were tired when the week was over, to be sure, but as there were no discipline problems to speak of among the students and no one taking off, there was very little confusion. Getting them up and off at most early morning hours was a bit hectic but we felt a satisfaction in having helped once more to see that these young people got back to their homes without getting into town and involved in trouble. Then too, we will benefit financially in that our statement to BIA is for $344 for feeding and boarding care. It will help.

Mr. Turner has been over to help get the gardening started. Some of the girls were quite enthusiastic about making gardens of their own. I only hope they will continue to feel the same once the gardens begin to grow. However, once the garden is up and weeding needed to be done, this will be put on the work chart as a regular part of the working day. We have purchased a few yards of top soil to make a flower garden in the front of the house, but much more is needed.

There has been much illness during the month, especially severe cases of flu. One girl who had been working came for the weekend and had a very bad chest cold so we put her in the isolation room (what a blessing that room is) and contacted the doctor who thought it might be a recurrence of the flu and said to bring her in to the hospital. Within a few days it was found that she had tuberculosis, and she is now in the ANHS hospital in Anchorage.

Our dear little Eskimo grandmother, hakarella, known to BIA as Susie Schultze passed away on the eleventh. She had been a faithful attender at the Homemakers' meetings for the past several months although she was much older than the others. She had been making her home with Roland and Lily and while there she learned to know Jesus as her personal Saviour. You will remember that Roland was the young man who learned to know the Lord when his tiny son died, although Lily has been a Christian of many years, and a very faithful one. They were sad at losing her but not as they would have been had it happened a year ago.

The Homemakers' Club concluded its work for the year with a very nice picnic which was held at the Crabb home. They will begin their meetings again in September. We are hoping to do much more in the line of program during the summer and are looking for someone to help with Boys' Nights. We will need a couple who has enthusiasm and a liking for young people.

The feeling of unrest, resentment and in one instance of open defiance has finally reached its climax and boiled over. I am thankful for that. Perhaps as some say, much of the naughtiness going on around town may be due in part to spring spirits but I am rather of the opinion that it goes a bit deeper. Since two of our girls were not allowed to come back after having walked off and three of them spent some time in detention, we have had a much better spirit all through the house. Then too, with the close of school others have gone out on live-in jobs and we have had quite a turn over in residents.

We have been able to give some assistance to a mother who is trying very hard to make a come back to normal living and to eventually having her children, or at least a part of them, back with her sometime in the future. Over a period of many years she has been living as so many do--more often intoxicated than not, and of course indulging in the kind of life that goes with it. She became quite ill and was hospitalized for some weeks so that it gave us a chance to talk with her and to encourage her. When she left the hospital she came to us and began to make new friends and to get rid of some of the old ones. It was quite a battle, especially as they would call her on the phone and when we either refused to call her or to deliver messages, become quite belligerent. I was told many things about myself that I never knew by one persistent man whose language fitted the kind of life he lived. I was told in the most picturesque terms what he thought of me and everyone connected with me, my past and my future and just where I was going. I finally told him the number of the police station. He must have called them as I have heard nothing more from him. In the meantime this mother has found herself a job where she is caring for four children, two of them retarded. I am amazed that she has had the will to stick it out as it is one of the hardest places I know of to work.

Our little fourteen-year-old has finally been placed in a children's home on the outskirts of town with the hope that she may adjust there. I doubt that she will, but it will be well if she does. She and her parents were both willing that she go to Haines House if the room was available but she is finally in the custody of DFN so someone is responsible for her.

Much has been accomplished around the house due to the efforts of Mrs. Smith's son who comes in on Saturdays or evenings to help. He put up the partition between the office and the space we used to use for our sleeping room. Dave Crow came over to put up shelves and it is now a very good storage room. George has also helped to put up other shelves in the clothes closet here in the office and we now use it to store our linens, quilts and blankets. Our girls have been painting furniture. There is much more to be done but we have the summer before us.

We are in need of having some sort of window stoppers on our back windows. One night some native boys decided they would try to get in and, having made a bet that he could do so, one boy did climb in the sick room window, talked with a girl who was in there at the time and climbed out again. The police were called but aside from tracks beneath the window, there was nothing to go on to identify them. However, I am sure that we will eventually know who they are via the grapevine. I have called Joe Keeney about it and also contacted one lumber company but that is about all that has been done about it so far.

Our new door bells and fire alarm system are in which makes for more rest for us. It is no longer necessary for one of us to sleep downstairs unless we have extras with us.

I have been informed that Marilyn Latta can be employed full time for the summer months and we are looking forward to a very busy summer with a much better organized program for work and play.

Dr. J. Earl Jackman, Secretary

Dear Dr. Jackman:

John Stokes and I discussed your letter of April 28th, regarding Mrs. Mann. Needless to say, I am very sorry that she cannot come for more of the summer. Both John and I feel that six weeks is too little time for her to become well enough acquainted with the work here to be of much use in our program. If we are to have someone who will be able take over for either Mrs. Smith or myself, it will be necessary for her to be here at least a month before either one of us would feel free to leave. Mrs. Smith is planning to take her vacation in August and I would like to take mine a week at a time during the summer.

Who? Letta

Do you have anyone else who could come for two and one-half or three months? As John and I were discussing this matter, we wondered if there is any possibility of Marilyn being hired for the summer. She is planning on getting work so that she can pay her expenses for this coming school year and has her application in at the Employment Service, the airlines and a number of other firms. So far she has had nothing definite. Would it be possible to use money from the summer service fund to pay her $200.00 per month plus her room and board? I know she does not have the qualifications required according to your letter to Mrs. Mann but she has the ability to fit in anywhere as well as much experience and knowledge which she has acquired during the past year with us. Her school is out about the 20th of May so that she could get away for some vacation time then if this plan would be possible. She is majoring in education and plans to take one more year at the University of Alaska which will be her Senior year, and then go to the states for further study the following year. She has about decided that this is the type of work she would like to follow and surely she has seen it at its worst and at its best. She is an amazing girl for one so young. She will be twenty-one years in July, yet has an exceptional understanding and love for others. There is no compromising as far as her own Christian living is concerned, and yet, she has all the compassion in the world for those who are weaker. Her being here these past months has certainly been valuable to our girls. She is very good working with groups and although I have not discussed it with her, I hope she will get as much training as possible in group work.

Will you let us know as soon as possible if there is any chance that Marilyn could be hired? If not, I hope you will be able to find someone else. I am very much disappointed that Mrs. Mann couldn't come for longer, it seems we were all agreed that she would be a fine person to work with. Perhaps something will turn up to change her plans again. I rather hope so.

Sincerely,

cc: John Stokes

NARRATIVE FOR MONTH OF JUNE, 1959

We have come to the end of the most enjoyable month of the year; enjoyable because of the lack of darkness. However, shortly after the 21st, the days begin to shorten and we realize that all too quickly our summer is on the way out. We are thankful that we will have two more months of lovely weather.

Our garden is doing nicely, especially since we have had so much rain. At first we feared it would be washed out but notice now that it is all up. It needs weeding badly but until the ground dries a bit, there is not much to be done about it. Mr. Turner's corn is outgrowing the shelter he put around it and the tomato plants in the shelter are much larger than those without.

As to our front yard, not too much can be done this year, but one Saturday some of the boys made a frame for a flower bed which extends the full length of the house and is about six feet wide. The frame is of logs left from the building. They also hauled several loads of top soil for it and on the following Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Swenson came over to help a few of the girls plant flower seeds and plants. Due to the heavy rains much of the seeds are washed together so we are interested in seeing just what our flower beds will look like in a few weeks.

We have had many visitors this month and are looking forward to many more. Dr. Jackman and the Seminar will be here the first part of July. Some of our visitors have traveled many miles to reach Alaska and it is interesting to hear their comments, especially if it is their first trip. One couple drove from Minnesota bringing several crates of eggs with them. By the time they arrived here they had twelve dozen left for us. They were Methodists but had heard of our work, and wanted to contribute something. We surely enjoyed the eggs. Many others have come from about eight states so far and one man who is with a government office in Washington D. C. said he had heard of our work and wondered if such a place as this might not prove practical in the states where relocation work is being carried on.

One visitor who gave us much happiness was Agnes Peetook Walters, formerly of Wainwright and now of California. She had been lonely for Alaska and her own people so her husband provided her with the ticket to come back for a visit. After being here just a few days she became so homesick that if it was possible she would have started right back. She would not go on to Wainwright but went back to California. She said she had seen enough and wanted to go home. We feared for her happiness when she was married some months ago but this is once that we were concerned and had no need to be. Her husband and his family are very active in their church and Agnes is included and learning to take her place with them.

We have had several students in journalism ask for interviews and information on our work. One girl who wrote a very good article was told by her professor that it was good enough with a bit of revising to be used by some magazine, so she is working hard at it.

There has been very little excitement other than the routine events such as new ones coming and going. Our Esther is being married early in July. We are all sad at losing her but feel that as she is marrying a fine Christian young man she will be happy. We have never had a girl whose whole nature seemed to change when she gave her heart to the Lord. From a cross, unhappy, selfish girl, she is growing into a lovely young woman with self control, kindness and thoughtfulness for others and a deep sincere desire to please God. Where once the others shunned her, fearing her tongue, they now admire and love her and cannot do enough to help her prepare for her wedding. What an example and a good influence she is to the others!

Now that we have Marilyn with us as program director full time, the work is much lighter. Although most of her time is put into working with groups and visiting, just the feeling of having her interest and zeal about us is a help. I went calling with her the first day and after that she was on her own. She has a love for others which attracts and gives confidence. She is doing a good job and I believe we will be well satisfied with the progress made when it is time for her to return to school in the fall. Her report will give a complete picture of the work she has started. She has outlined a better program for our girls' spare time too, for which we are thankful.

This leads to another thought. We had better be considering a full-time worker for us in the fall. The work is becoming quite heavy. There is much counselling in addition to the work with the girls here. Especially do we have women coming to us for advice and help who do not feel they want to confide in agency workers or even their close friends. We refer them to their pastors whenever possible but often they will not go there. It seems that with each girl we get from the area of Fairbanks, we also get a family problem that needs help immediately. So often the problem is the cause of the girl straying. Then some of our young couples, because the girl has lived here or has had some contact with us before she was married, feel that they still have a claim upon us in their difficulties, and of course when a bit of encouragement or counselling will help, we must be prepared to help them. We have a number of volunteers who will be taking over the classes but there is much to be done in just keeping the workers advised and in getting them organized.

We have just one complaint to make this month, or should I call it a suggestion? The tenants of Fairview Manor, some of them, have formed the habit of parking their cars along the fence on our side of it. I do not know just where the property line runs but it would be advisable I believe, to determine if they are parking on our property and if so to put up a chain or posts with a sign 'No Parking.' Many nights when we could get a full night's sleep, we are awakened by the cars coming and going. Sometimes, as happened last night, a car doesn't start, so there they are working and shouting while they try to get it started. Another thing to think about is this--not long ago we were told that our girls were sitting in parked cars with their boy friends. This is not so, as we know when they come in and no one is allowed to sit out front in a car. We are especially careful of this. I can only think that the person must have seen these cars and just took it for granted they belonged to us.

Somehow the many irritations and problems that some time ago seemed so great have just sort of dissolved. I am thankful for our fine co-workers. I so often hear of the friction and quarreling that occurs in some institutions and am so glad for God's grace in our lives that gives us an awareness of Him so that when we do have difficulties we can talk them over together--if we have wronged one another, we can ask forgiveness and as we begin each day with prayer and His Word, we feel a subduing by the Spirit that goes with us often through hard places and added strength when it is needed. We request your prayers in behalf of this much needed work.

Respectfully submitted:

Especially do we have women coming to us for advice and help who do not feel they want to confide in agency workers or even their close friends. We refer them to their pastors whenever possible but often they will not go there. It seems that with each girl we get from the area of Fairbanks, we also get a family problem that needs help immediately. So often the problem is the cause of the girl straying. Then some of our young couples, because the girl has lived here or has had some contact with us before she was married, feel that they still have a claim upon us in their difficulties, and of course when a bit of encouragement or counselling will help, we must be prepared to help them. We have a number of volunteers who will be taking over the classes but there is much to be done in just keeping the workers advised and in getting them organized.

We have just one complaint to make this month, or should I call it a suggestion? The tenants of Fairview Manor, some of them, have formed the habit of parking their cars along the fence on our side of it. I do not know just where the property line runs but it would be advisable I believe to determine if they are parking on our property and if so to put up a chain or posts with a sign 'No Parking.' Many nights when we could get a full night's sleep, we are awakened by the cars coming and going. Sometimes, as happened last night, a car doesn't start, so there they are working and shouting while they try to get it started. Another thing to think about is this—not long ago we were told that our girls were sitting in parked cars with their boy friends. This is not so, as we know when they come in and no one is allowed to sit out front in a car. We are especially careful of this. I can only think that the person must have seen these cars and just took it for granted they belonged to us.

Somehow the many irritations and problems that some time ago seemed so great have just sort of dissolved. I am thankful for our fine co-workers. I so often hear of the friction and quarreling that occurs in some institutions and am so glad for God's grace in our lives that gives us an awareness of Him so that when we do have difficulties we can talk them over together—if we have wronged one another, we can ask forgiveness and as we begin each day with prayer and His Word, we feel a subduing by the Spirit that goes with us often through hard places and added strength when it is needed. We request your prayers in behalf of this much needed work.

NARRATIVE FOR MONTH OF JULY 1959

J.

In reading over our report for July 1958, I am reminded that just a year ago the work party of young people, with their pastor from California, were here helping to get the work on the upstairs started, the outside logs sanded and sealed, and the back yard fenced in and to do many other tasks that needed to be done. Although much was accomplished at that time, even more has been done since. Little by little, our house is being made more liveable and convenient for working. There is still much to be done, but, gradually we will have everything in good order. We have been fortunate in having helpers provided when we needed them.

I am much concerned, though, about our chimney. As you know, our furnace has blown up several times during the past year and the trouble was finally found to be a too small chimney. I have been informed that this was discussed at the last board meeting and the committee was to take care of it, but, within a very short time, the weather will turn cold and we will need to set up the furnace. I am sure that if the fire department was aware of this, we would have to make some immediate changes.

We have had an increase in admissions for temporary care, due, perhaps to the lack of employment. Many men are out of work because of the strikes, so are caring for their children while the wives work, thus eliminating the need for babysitters.

There have been very few incidents of misbehaviour lately although we have had many calls from families or persons in trouble of one kind or another, especially in regards to their teen-agers. Too often the mother is working and the young people allowed to look after themselves.

There is one incident that I feel our board members should know about in order to be able to give an answer when questioned. A week ago, a woman with whom we have been working for the past few months, was picked up by the police in an intoxicated condition. She gave the Hospitality House as her address and of course that has caused much comment. She has stayed here a time or two--once for a few days after being released from the hospital following surgery, and when out of a job. She is the mother of five children, all removed from her care due to her loose living. It is several months since she stayed here but evidently she does associate the Hospitality House in her thoughts as home to her. I have called the police department to suggest that they call us before allowing anyone to use us as their address. It is most embarrassing. It is several weeks since we have seen her, and we cannot help but feel sorry as she had made such a real attempt to straighten herself up. I'm afraid she feels it is hopeless, now.

Marilyn is doing a very fine job with program. She has secured volunteer workers and there are now three clubs organized; Mothers' Club, Boys' Club and a Girls' Club. She has also arranged to have Mrs. Swenson and Mrs. Tonseth come in a number of afternoons each week to help our girls with their sewing. Beginning in August a home nursing course will be offered as well as rug making, nutrition classes and other related homemaking subjects will be taught. A charm class is also in the offing in which personal grooming, neatness, good posture and good manners will be stressed. Mrs. Turner has also offered to help any of our girls with their school work and with their reading. We are most fortunate in having these very fine people to help us.

We are changing our Boys' Night to Tuesday instead of Wednesday night so that those of our girls who would like to, can attend church. Our girls are becoming most interested in learning all they can about the Bible. Sometimes we take it for granted that because they come from a village which is predominantly Christian that they have been taught the basic beliefs but often they have not absorbed enough to help them when they need it most. Our morning devotional time still attracts many of the girls. Mrs. Turner is a very able and interesting teacher. Marilyn reports that a number of the girls who have never prayed aloud before are beginning to do so in the evening devotional time. I believe one of the greatest helps they have had lately is being able to see how prayer is answered for others. One girl who prayed for another person was overjoyed when her prayer was answered and told us that it was the first time in her life that such a thing had happened. She is a very new Christian but is studying hard and trying to learn very fast.

To me, one of the most enjoyable times is when we have visitors. Although we cannot go to visit others, they can come to us and we enjoy them all. Among those who came this month was the Seminar, of course, and another group under the direction of Rev. Miller, sponsored by the Westminster Fellowship Alaska Study Tour, came all the way from Florida. Most of them were young people who were planning on college in the near future and were most interested in what they had seen and heard all along the way. One young man said he felt at least some of this group would one day be coming back to Alaska for the Board of National Missions. Surely they will not find a greater challenge.

We are looking forward to and helping in the planning for the Conference of Children's Institutions to be held the 16th through the 18th of August at the University of Alaska. As this will be the first such conference to be held under statehood, we feel it will be a most thrilling event. Needless to say, it will be of much help to all of us, not only for what we can learn but for the fellowship of other workers interested in the same things, namely our young people.

We still have many needs--for money of course and for a new stove and eventually a large laundry type washer. So many of our needs have been met that we feel these will be too. We are thankful for the fine response we have had for our many requests.

PRESBYTERIAN HOSPITALITY HOUSE
1406 Airport Road
FAIRBANKS, ALASKA

NARRATIVE FOR THE MONTH OF AUGUST 1959

We find ourselves suddenly at the end of August and at the end of summer. This has been a very busy time, but much has been accomplished. Our new chimney is up, and what a relief that is! We can look forward to a winter with no explosions of the furnace causing so much extra work, to say nothing of the danger of fire.

Now that the chimney is taken care of, we have other needs. I presume we will always find that as one thing is replaced another wears out. Of course our kitchen stove is a need that will eventually be supplied because it is a must. We have $138 contributed toward the purchase of a new one. Yet another need is a place for drying our clothes during the winter months. Using the dryer continuously is very expensive and not satisfactory. In the plans for renovation, provision is made for the office to be where the present laundry room now is. When that move is made we could use the present office space which is right next to the furnace room for drying as well as other purposes. It would take about a day's work for a carpenter to make the changes needed. There will be no need of an electrician and only one phone jack needs to be moved. With the rooms full upstairs there is no other space that we can use. I hope we can get a volunteer to do this work.

We are also sadly in need of a sign. Shortly after we had opened Hospitality House, the Farthest North Art Guild offered to paint us a sign or to contribute fifty dollars toward whatever kind of sign we wanted. This was not looked into but I'm sure if the committee would talk with their members they would still be willing to do this.

In the interest of economy, I'm wondering if it will be possible to do something about insulating the two entry ways. Much warm air escapes through the walls. We can and will stuff the cracks but that still is not enough. I'm sure we would save many dollars on the fuel bill if this was taken care of.

One of the fine events of this month was the conference of Child Caring Institutions held at the University of Alaska. Representatives from the various children's homes and institutions from all over the state attended. Although there had been an association of children's homes organized some years ago, for many reasons it had become inactive with the last meeting being held in 1954. With this first meeting under statehood a new start was made with Mr. William Wiley being elected as president and Miss Isabel Miller as secretary. I am sure this group will make itself felt especially in the matter of legislation and in the standards set for the care of children and youth.

We have had many visitors this month and among them two girls who were stranded when the bus in which they were touring broke down at Whitehorse. One girl liked Alaska so much that she intends to stay here in Fairbanks and attend the University. The other was a most interesting person. She is German and escaped with her family to Switzerland and from there decided to see as much of the world as she could. Her father had told her that she must try to see the eighth wonder of the world, the 'pathway' to Alaska. Well, she accomplished just that. We were all much interested in her experiences and I feel she too gained something by being here. She is a Christian but did not realize that God was interested in her personally, but she found that although stranded, a place was provided for her to stay (she was a most willing worker about the house), she was welcomed everywhere and her greatest concern was that she had little money and was a long way from home. However, we told her that a way would come and that when one door was closed to her, that if she trusted God would open another. When within a few days a ride all the way to Calgary was provided for her at no cost, you can imagine her happiness. Her remark to us was this "Just see, it's as you said, when God shuts the windows He opens the door."

We enjoyed our many other visitors too. Miss Miller, as is usual, did a bit of carpentry and put up curtains in our isolation room. I'm not sure but what it might be a good idea to put her in whatever room needs fixing when she comes as she always sees the extra needs and immediately does something about them. We were glad of a chance to talk with both Isabel and Bill Wiley although their time was limited.

The young people have gone on their way to their boarding schools. Those from Sheldon Jackson have a later date for getting to school. We have two young people who will be attending S. J. this year; Alvina Richards, who stayed with us and attended Lathrop High is one and Harold Strand the other. We were especially pleased that Harold decided to go back to school and graduate this year. He is a fine boy with very little to encourage him. He spent part of the summer with us, helping when we needed help and working at firefighting as much as he could so that he had money enough to buy his clothing and provide his spending money for the school year.

Marilyn Latta's term of employment with the Board of National Missions as our Program Director will soon end, and it is time to think in terms of her continuing with us in somewhat the same capacity. She has done a very fine job in getting our program set up—mostly with volunteer workers. The Mothers' Club meets every Thursday. The Boys' Club and the Girls' Club also meet once a week. She has set up classes and acquired teachers for during the fall and winter, such as for home nursing and charm classes (this includes instruction in personal care and good manners). Boys' nights have become a time of fun and fellowship rather than a time for sitting around holding hands. Our girls are learning to make plans and to work things out for themselves under her guidance.

Mrs. Smith, who has been with us for over two years, has requested a leave of absence from January 1 through March 31, 1960. She has been a most faithful worker and has put the interests of Hospitality House before her own much of the time. Although she hasn't been actually ill, she is more tired than she should be and feels that a few months away will give her the rest and renew her strength for the job to be done. I am bringing this up now as someone else will have to be employed in her place during her absence, if she is to be granted a leave.

We are thankful for many good things during this month, not the least among them the meat turned over to us by the Fish and Wildlife, and for the surplus commodities we have received such as flour, dried milk and butter. There have been other contributions too, to our fund for a projector and screen.

NARRATIVE FOR THE MONTH OF AUGUST 1959

We find ourselves suddenly at the end of August and at the end of summer. This has been a very busy time, but much has been accomplished. Our new chimney is up, and what a relief that is! We can look forward to a winter with no explosions of the furnace causing so much extra work, to say nothing of the danger of fire.

Now that the chimney is taken care of, we have other needs. I presume we always will find that as one thing is replaced another wears out. Of course our kitchen stove is a need that will eventually be supplied because it is a must. We have $138 contributed toward the purchase of a new one. Yet another need is a place for drying our clothes during the winter months. Using the dryer continuously is very expensive and not satisfactory. In the plans for renovation, provision is made for the office to be where the present laundry room now is. When that move is made we could use the present office space which is right next to the furnace room for drying as well as other purposes. It would take about a day's work for a carpenter to make the changes needed. There will be no need of an electrician and only one phone jack needs to be moved. With the rooms full upstairs there is no other space that we can use. I hope we can get a volunteer to do this work.

We are sadly in need of a sign. Shortly after we had opened Hospitality House, the Farthest North Art Guild offered to paint us a sign or to contribute fifty dollars toward whatever kind of sign we wanted. This was not looked into but I'm sure if the committee would talk with their members they would still be willing to do this.

In the interest of economy, I'm wondering if it will be possible to do something about insulating the two entry ways. Much warm air escapes through the walls. We can and will stuff the cracks but that still is not enough. I'm sure we would save many dollars on the fuel bill if this was taken care of.

One of the fine events of this month was the conference of Child Caring Institutions held at the University of Alaska. Representatives from the various children's homes and institutions from all over the state attended. Although there had been an association of children's homes organized some years ago, for many reasons it had become inactive with the last meeting being held in 1954. With this first meeting under statehood a new start was made with Mr. William Wiley being elected as president and Miss Isabel Miller as secretary. I am sure this group will make itself felt especially in the matter of legislation and in the standards set for the care of children and youth.

We have had many visitors this month and among them two girls who were stranded when the bus in which they were touring broke down at Whitehorse. One girl liked Alaska so much that she intends to stay here in Fairbanks and attend the University. The other was a most interesting person. She is German and escaped with her family to Switzerland and from there decided to see as much of the world as she could. Her father had told her that she must try to see the eighth wonder of the world, the 'pathway' to Alaska. Well, she accomplished just that. We were all much interested in her experiences and I feel she too gained something by being here. She is a Christian but did not realize that God was interested in her personally, but she found that although stranded, a place was provided for her to stay (she was a most willing worker about the house), she was welcomed everywhere and her greatest concern was that she had little money and was a long way from home. However, we told her that a way would come and that when one door was closed to her, that if she trusted, God would open another. When, within a few days a ride all the way to Calgary was provided for her at no cost, you can imagine her happiness. Her remark to us was this "Just see, it's as you said, when God shuts the windows He opens the door."

We enjoyed our many other visitors too. Miss Miller, as is usual, did a bit of carpentry and put up curtains in our isolation room. I'm not sure but what it might be a good idea to put her in whatever room needs fixing when she comes as she always sees the extra needs and immediately does something about them. We were glad of a chance to talk with both Isabel and Bill Wiley although their time was limited.

The young people have gone on their way to their boarding schools. Those from Sheldon Jackson have a later date for getting to school. We have two young people who will be attending S. J. this year; Alvina Richards, who stayed with us and attended Lathrop High, is one and Harold Strand, the other. We were especially pleased that Harold decided to go back to school and graduate this year. He is a fine boy with very little to encourage him. He spent part of the summer with us, helping when we needed help and working at firefighting as much as he could so that he had money enough to buy his clothing and provide his spending money for the school year.

Marilyn Latta's term of employment with the Board of National Missions as our Program Director will soon end, and it is time to think in terms of her continuing with us in somewhat the same capacity. She has done a very fine job in getting our program set up—mostly with volunteer workers. The Mothers' Club meets every Thursday. The Boys' Club and the Girls' Club also meet once a week. She has set up classes and acquired teachers for during the fall and winter, such as for home nursing and charm classes (this includes instruction in personal care and good manners). Boys' nights have become a time of fun and fellowship rather than a time for sitting around holding hands. Our girls are learning to make plans and to work things out for themselves under her guidance.

Mrs. Smith, who has been with us for over two years, has requested a leave of absence from January 1 through March 31, 1960. She has been a most faithful worker and has put the interests of Hospitality House before her own much of the time. Although she has not been actually ill, she is more tired than she should be and feels that a few months away will give her the rest and renew her strength for the job to be done. I am bringing this up now as someone else will have to be employed in her place during her absence, if she is to be granted a leave.

We are thankful for many good things during this month, not the least among them the meat turned over to us by the Fish and Wildlife, and for the surplus commodities we have received such as flour, dried milk and butter. There have been other contributions too, to our fund for a projector and screen.

Respectfully submitted,

Now look! This was in the Seattle Times. One of the students wrote us up for her journalism class and Dr. Kiem, her instructor suggested she send it to one of the magazines. This is where it ended up. It's a bit embarrassing with the Rasmussen's all over the page. I hope the P. L. writer will take a broader view of the whole thing. After all, there is much more to the Hospitality House than it's beginning and it's time we forget the beginnings and go on to greater things.

The forms you sent Marilyn are not the best but perhaps we can make up some others for your approval that will give the Board a better picture of her work. She is doing very well. I have heard nothing from Olive Fisher but as in a few other instances I am trusting that she will be able to come. I did hear that on her vacation she will be visiting establishments such as ours to see what they are doing. Sounds promising. Bye for now. I'm up to my ears preparing for our conference. It just must be a success. I expect Isabel in sometime today. Greetings to Mrs. Jackman too.

Sincerely,

Mable

Their adjustment from village to urban life is made easier at this

Haven for Alaskan Native Girls

By AGNES RODLI

THE face of Alaska is changing rapidly. As furs are being depleted, the economy of the Eskimo and Indian villages is becoming more precarious. Young people find their parents' homes crowded and leave for the cities to look for work. For the girls this usually means domestic work, but too often they apply ill-prepared for the jobs available.

What about the complexities of shopping in a supermarket, of defrosting refrigerators, and using pressure cookers? The girls who go to town to find work often discover they cannot even baby-sit to please the women who would hire them.

Discouraged, the girls look for help. Some give up and go back to their villages. Others have no money with which to go back, so they drift from place to place without even a room to call their own.

Mrs. Mabel Rasmussen made these girls her personal concern. She and her husband attend the First Presbyterian Church of Fairbanks, where they became active in native work. But Mrs. Rasmussen looked beyond her Sunday School class and asked to do more than to say, "Be ye clothed and fed." She started classes to teach her native girls how to sew

MR. AND MRS. HARRY RASMUSSEN left the Fairbanks Hospitality House to go to church on a Sunday morning. Mrs. Rasmussen operates a "home away from home" and a school for native young women, sponsored by the Presbyterian Board of National Missions. Their training here helps the girls establish themselves in the "new" Alaska.

ing for this purpose, but said it knew house office was flooded with tele- date nights. Other evenings workers and cook.

An electrical firm gave Mrs. Rasmussen the use of the company's kitchen. The girls attended Friday classes regularly. But months of patient effort did not satisfy Mrs. Rasmussen. She was conscious more than ever before of the spiritual, social and material needs of Alaska's uprooted young people.

MRS. RASMUSSEN pleaded with the Presbyterian Board of National Missions to do something, to find someone who could make a home for the girls and work with them every day. She pictured a home away from home where they could be trained for jobs, then helped to find the right jobs.

The board agreed to rent a building of only one person with the ability, understanding and vision for the task. The agency asked Mrs. Rasmussen to be the one to try her own scheme.

The plan worked. In March, 1957, Mrs. Rasmussen opened the Fairbanks Hospitality House in a rented basement. She took in three girls. By the end of the year more than 200 had registered as her guests. Of that number, about half were students en route to or from government boarding schools. The rest were mostly young women from the villages who were trying to adjust to a new world.

Those who appreciated this sheltering roof told their friends about it, and so the word spread. Soon the phone calls and applications from girls who wanted job training.

THE lower half of a building, which had been adequate when the work first began, strained at the seams. The Board of National Missions began looking for larger permanent quarters and learned that the log building in which the home was housed was for sale. When remodeled and partitioned, it would have ample room for 18 resident girls, besides the workers.

The price of the building was above the means of those who saw it as the new Hospitality House. They prayed. Almost miraculously money came in from interested parties and from church groups. The trustees were able to make the transaction.

Although the building is fairly new, it needed a fresh coat of paint inside before dedication day. The girls resident in the home at the time did the work.

Now a home is open to girls of any race and of any church affiliation, or of no church connection at all.

SINCE many girls are unable to pay, arrangements are made that a girl may work for her room and board. After she obtains employment, she is expected to contribute toward her keep, that she may learn the value of money, as well as build her own sense of equality with other working girls.

The bulk of the financial load of the home is carried by the Presbyterian Church and by gifts and offerings from donors in other states and even from the villages. A native father may send a dollar. He appreciates the knowledge that his daughter is receiving care and counsel.

The rules of the home are few, mostly governing hours and places of entertainment. Certain nights are conduct classes in home nursing, prenatal care, baby-sitting and sewing. These classes are open to people of the community as well as the native girls.

Young people's meetings are held once a week, which outsiders also are invited to attend.

Mrs. Rasmussen smiles happily when she talks about her girls. She and "Daddy" Rasmussen have seen several of their girls marry and many now have homes of their own. Others have gone away for further schooling. One is training as a dental technician with the Alaska Department of Health. Not all the girls succeed in finding their niches, but those who do compensate for the disappointments.

MRS. RASMUSSEN and her assistant, Mrs. Viola Smith, put in long hours, but their work is rewarding.

The girls are given a purpose.

"You can tell them they shouldn't do this and they shouldn't do that," says Mrs. Rasmussen, "but you have to give them something more positive."

Mrs. Rasmussen's everyday living is an example of her positive outlook. For her, everyday living is packed with emergencies. Once a phone call came asking if she could feed 40 children who were airport-bound by plane-engine trouble. Her answer was positive.

"We happened to have some pancake flour," Mrs. Rasmussen recalled later, "so the girls pitched in and helped us and we had supper for that whole gang of hungry youngsters. We have had some great times here."

Mrs. Rasmussen's girls remember those great times. They learn the fun of living and the joy of helping others. They discover that they can put their roots down and find their places in the new Alaska.

NARRATIVE FOR MONTH OF SEPTEMBER 1959

The narrative for this month will be rather brief - not because we have been less busy than usual, but, that our work has been routine, especially now that school has begun.

At present, we have ten girls in school, but, feel that before the first six weeks are up, some will have dropped out. They will be given every encouragement to continue, but, if they feel they cannot go on, will be given an opportunity to learn to do housework in order that they may be self-supporting. There are a number of reasons why some of these girls want to leave school at this age, but, from observing them and their family backgrounds, I feel that often they have not had education held up before them as something to prize and so they feel it is not worth the effort. In the case where native parents do value an education and want their children to profit from what they can learn, the girls will feel much the same about it and will make the effort even when the going is very hard. There is so much more than 'book learning' that these young folk have to learn. One cannot help but admire them. Another thing that sometimes makes it difficult for some of our girls, especially if they want to be one of the crowd, is the matter of clothing. The average high school student is dressed exceptionally well, with many changes of dress, which makes it difficult for the girl who must make-do with what can be provided.

The garden produce has been brought in and we are enjoying carrots, cabbage and potatoes. We have received quite a bit of moose meat and even bear and caribou, which helps much with our food bill. The storm windows are also being put up and the logs in both entry ways have been chinked from the inside. This should lessen our fuel bill.

After the last Board meeting, we were informed of an electric kitchen stove to be obtained for $40.00. We will surely appreciate having it, as our present stove has about given up. We cannot use the ovens, so must buy our bread although we have flour and girls who can do the baking.

You will note that there are not as many meetings held this month. This is due in part to school beginning and also to the fact that many people are out hunting and then preparing their meat for the winter. Several families have moved right out to their camp sites to hunt and pick berries for the coming winter season. However, in October, that part of our program will be in full swing again, as well as classes in Home Nursing to be conducted by Mrs. Zelda Eidem. These will be for our girls and also for anyone in the community who is interested.

Marilyn is back at the University again, but as the group program is quite well organized with volunteer workers, she will be able to continue with it as well as with the program for the house. She will also be able to relieve us some evenings.

First Church has loaned us their dictaphone, which, with a bit of working on is in good condition. This will help very much with the correspondence as a number of our girls are taking the commercial course in high school and will profit by helping with the transcribing.

Narrative Presbyterian Hospitality House September 1959

I plan to take my vacation either during the latter part of November or the first part of December, and much appreciate the suggestion that we get a woman to help in Mrs. Smith's place. This will enable Mrs. Smith to take over my duties while I am gone. Marilyn can take care of any urgent correspondence. Another person on the staff will certainly help to keep things running smoothly, which is almost an impossibility when one person must cover the work of two.

Surprisingly, we have had no serious problems this past month. Perhaps because preparing for school and for winter has kept our girls well occupied. We have a girl who came to us of her own accord, but, with the story that her parents had left her with friends while travelling in the states, and she asked to stay here until she could hear from them. Her reason for not staying longer with this family was that the man of the family had recently become unemployed and they could not afford to keep her. On further investigation we found this to be untrue and that her parents live on Base. They are trying to find a good school to which they can send her. She has not caused us any serious concern but evidently this has not been the case formerly as she was expelled from an on base school over a year ago. Although she was rebellious toward her parents she has a better attitude and is willing to cooperate with them. We are glad when girls come to us for assistance before they get into serious trouble. Although we may not recommend anything other than what their own parents would suggest, they feel that we are neutral and will listen to their side of the story and too, that they will be making part of the decision themselves. Sometimes just a cooling off period helps, a period of just a few days, and a chance for the girl to tell her side of the story. Once their troubles are talked out, they no longer seem so great and can be dealt with as just 'problems.'

We are most thankful for the girls who have been here long enough to understand their own problems and who are willing to help the newer girls to accept the rules and a new way of life. They are of much help to the staff and show a fine loyalty and often when a girl rebels and wants to run off or break rules, it is the older girl who hears of it and helps her to realize that these things are for her benefit. Thus we find a satisfaction in the work and praise God that He continues to care for us and for the lost ones who come to us.

Respectfully submitted:

Marilyn is back at the University again, but as the group program is quite well organized with volunteer workers, she will be able to continue with it as well as with the program for the house. She will also be able to relieve us some evenings.

First Church has loaned us their dictaphone, which, with a bit of working on is in good condition. This will help very much with the correspondence as a number of our girls are taking the commercial course in high school and will profit by helping with the transcribing.

I plan to take my vacation either during the latter part of November or the first part of December, and much appreciate the suggestion that we get a woman to help in Mrs. Smith's place. This will enable Mrs. Smith to take over my duties while I am gone. Marilyn can take care of any urgent correspondence. Another person on the staff will certainly help to keep things running smoothly, which is almost an impossibility when one person must cover the work of two.

Surprisingly, we have had no serious problems this past month. Perhaps because preparing for school and for winter has kept our girls well occupied. We have a girl who came to us of her own accord, but, with the story that her parents had left her with friends while travelling in the states, and she asked to stay here until she could hear from them. Her reason for not staying longer with this family was that the man of the family had recently become unemployed and they could not afford to keep her. On further investigation we found this to be untrue and that her parents live on Base. They are trying to find a good school to which they can send her. She has not caused us any serious concern but evidently this has not been the case formerly as she was expelled from an on base school over a year ago. Although she was rebellious toward her parents she has a better attitude and is willing to cooperate with them. We are glad when girls come to us for assistance before they get into serious trouble. Although we may not recommend anything other than what their own parents would suggest, they feel that we are neutral and will listen to their side of the story and too, that they will be making part of the decision themselves. Sometimes just a cooling off period helps, a period of just a few days, and a chance for the girl to tell her side of the story. Once their troubles are talked out, they no longer seem so great and can be dealt with as just 'problems.'

We are most thankful for the girls who have been here long enough to understand their own problems and who are willing to help the newer girls to accept the rules and a new way of life. They are of much help to the staff and show a fine loyalty and often when a girl rebels and wants to run off or break rules, it is the older girl who hears of it and helps her to realize that these things are for her benefit. Thus we find a satisfaction in the work and praise God that He continues to care for us and for the lost ones who come to us.

NARRATIVE FOR MONTH OF OCTOBER 1959

Now that October is past, we find we are settled into our winter routine. Although there is not as much traveling to and from the villages at this time of year, yet we are always busy.

In comparing last October's report with this one, I was surprised to find last year with many more admissions. However, on checking I found that many were patients returning home from hospitals and staying for a day or two.

We are finding it necessary to very carefully screen all applicants, especially those referring themselves. Now that Hospitality House is established and known, there is a tendency for girls to want to come here when they are tired of a job, or even between boy friends. We have had only a few who fit in this category but enough to show that this can and will happen. We have many calls for girls to work in homes, as does the employment agency, but although there are many in town, they do not want to work. Too many are coming in from the near-by villages where they have been living very loosely and want to do the same in Fairbanks and of course will not work. They also get any of the younger girls and get them looking at life just as they do. Our trouble seems to be that we do not get to them soon enough. I suppose we should be thankful that we are able to save as many as we have but, when we see the waste of life, we feel defeated and wonder where we could do more.

In my last report I mentioned the possibility that some of our school girls would be leaving school. Well, the six-weeks' reports are in and two did decide to quit. One should not have started as she is just not able to do the work, but we hesitated to discourage her. At least she tried. The other had had a hard time last year and felt she had reached her limit of learning from books. She feels inferior even when it comes to baby-sitting so she is at home learning how to do housework and goes out now and then on ironing or cleaning jobs.

We now have eight in school, another having come back to Hospitality House after failing on a job where she was working for her room and board. We also have eight at home; one waiting to go to the hospital and one planning on moving to Anchorage. The rest are learning to do their jobs properly. As we now have two stoves working beautifully, the aroma of fresh baking bread and cookies floats through the house and our girls are learning to bake and to enjoy it.

We have been pleased to notice lately that there is some competition among the girls as to who keeps her room the neatest. Quite an improvement for a change.

Our work under program, with Marilyn Latta in charge is going on very well and much interest is shown. Some of our volunteers are dropping out. One went to work, another is leaving Fairbanks for the winter and the young man who worked with the boys is being rotated. However, we feel that the Lord will supply someone to help as needed.

We still do not have our door changed but have Chaplain Pedigo's promise of a man to do it.

Narrative October, 1959

We are thankful for a month of comparative quiet. It helps to have a breathing spell although we know it cannot last for long. I am looking forward to my vacation, especially now that we have heard that Mrs. Palm will be able to come the first of December to assist Mrs. Smith.

We are thankful to God for His loving watch-care over us and we pray much that our efforts may be acceptable to Him.

NARRATIVE FOR MONTH OF DECEMBER 1959

December is surely the liveliest month of the year, and perhaps the busiest, especially as all thought and preparation has been toward that most wonderful of holidays, Christmas.

Our girls, with Marilyn's help planned the Christmas activities, and it was a happy time for all. There were tears of loneliness and a longing for home for some, or just a wish to have someone of their own. As one girl expressed it, "I wish I had an own family". However, personal feelings were put aside and everyone helped to make it a happy time.

We were a bit worried (oh, ye of little faith) because Christmas boxes were slow in coming - so that we had gifts for some but not enough for all. We had had a check from one of the churches in the states with which we bought skates for the house for all to use, and some packages had come in. I talked with Mr. Cleworth about it and he contacted Mr. Ryan of the News-miner and we were given a good sum which helped and more. Then just a day or two before Christmas three huge boxes of foodstuffs and beautifully wrapped gifts were sent us from the First Church in Anchorage . Our Christmas, or that part of it, was made!

Early on Christmas Eve, some of our girls visited a sick woman bringing her a gift and singing carols for her. Then we went to the Candle Light Service at church, except for those who attended their own midnight services in their respective churches. Although it was late when we came home, we had our time of fun about the tree with the distribution of gifts for all of us. I wish you could have shared that time with us and heard the squeals of delight when the box of skates was opened. One of the stateside women's groups had earlier in the year made enough pretty pajamas so that each girl could have a new pair for Christmas so when our festivities were over, they brought mattresses downstairs on the living room floor, donned the new pajamas and had the slumber party they had been teasing for, for a long time. They had permission to stay up as long as they wished, and although I was exhausted and went to bed and sleep, Harry said he could hear them singing Christmas carols at 5:30 in the morning.

In spite of little sleep, they all got up the next forenoon and helped make the dinner to which they had invited friends. It was a very grand time and after dinner was over, Harry took them all out to the skating rink at College to top of the day's activities. We received a number of cards and letters from former girls, many expressing their appreciation for assistance given in times past. Several remembered having spent a Christmas here and one in particular who is now happily married wrote thanking us for help given and closing with "from the one who always got lost." How thankful we are that the 'lost' has been found, and is now trusting the Lord.

Most of our work has been routine with very little out of the ordinary this month. On one occasion, a 14 year-old girl decided to leave home in 20 below weather and to start walking down the highway. She got as far as Eilson Air Base gate and half frozen, asked for assistance. The State Police were called and brought her in to us. The probation officer contacted the parents and in a few days she was allowed to go home. We checked into the family situation and found that the home is not the best, that an older brother had been one of two boys who shot and killed a cow moose and calf early this fall. As we were the recipients of the meat which was given to us all wrapped and labeled, we were sure it was not the work of youngsters. An officer who has had some contact with the family agreed that the parents had had a hand in it. We also found that there are others in the family who have been in difficulties with the law and that this girl has run away from home several times. She was a most unhappy child and I felt she needed some understanding care. When she talked with the probation officer she told him that she would not run away again while it was so cold but when the weather was warm she would do it again. I also found that she was associating with the wrong kind of girls but felt it was because she feels a misfit. Her constant running away simply seems to me to be a demand on her part that someone do something to help her. No doubt she will go on as she is until such time as she is again picked up by the police and turned over to juvenile authorities. I offered the mother what assistance we could give in allowing the girl to come here for girl's meetings or week ends so that she would make new friends but we have heard nothing more from her.

Some of our Eskimo women came to me with the story that a Barrow girl was in town expecting a child and no place to stay. She was getting in with the wrong company because none of her people had room for her. By the time we caught up with her which was within the week her child was about to be born. She was rushed to the hospital from here and within a couple hours the little one arrived. I received a call from another woman patient in the same room saying the girl was being influenced to give up her baby. As I had talked with the girl about this matter of adoption, I felt she might want to give it up but felt it should go through the right channels. Before we were through, I had become involved with a number of local people all wanting that baby for someone they knew! I called Mr. Draper our DPW Representative and between us and the mother, the baby was placed in a foster home until the mother was satisfied as to what she wanted to do. The baby is now in a home with approved parents and will be adopted by them when the proceedings are complete.

We still have six girls in school all doing very well. One will graduate this year and go on to college if she so desires. By the middle of January we will be filled to capacity again as we have applications from girls who will be accepted.

We are all thankful for another year with it's many victories as well as failures. Many have been helped to a better way of life and who can tell how far reaching our efforts may be? Much that seems a failure to us can become otherwise in God's hands. It is enough that we can trust Him for each day knowing that every moment is in His control.
